Is a selfportrait a portrait of the self? It is in playing and only in playing that the individual child or adult is able to be cre-ative and to use the whole personality, and it is only in being creative that the indi-vidual discovers the self.¹ Who am I?is probably one of the oldest questions of humankind.

The mind's self-portrait has as a central feature the idea that thoughts cause actions, and that the self is thus an origin of the body's actions. This self-portrait is reached through a process of inference of apparent mental cau-sation, and it gives rise to the experience that we are consciously willing what we do.
